posting this. The on-site fabrication of metal nanoparticles with different complex nanoparticles (MNPs-Co@CCP-MOF-NPs) by using a one-pot conversion method: modified synthesis and catalytic behavior. A one-pot conversion method was employed to prepare metal-organic frameworks (MOFs)-encapsulated cobalt nanoparticles (Co@CCP-MOFs-NPs) by using $\text{Co}^{2+}/\text{Co}^{3+}$ and $\text{Co}^{2+}/\text{Co}^{4+}$ as co-precursors and formaldehyde as the reductant. The $\text{Co}^{3+}/\text{Co}^{4+}$ -related hierarchical nanostructure could be explained by the reduction of Co^{2+} to $\text{Co}^{3+}/\text{Co}^{4+}$ in situ. However, the reduction of formaldehyde resulted in the growth of the size of particles within the hierarchical nanostructure, which was probably due to the Co^{3+}/Co
