LeOra Software developed computer software in the late 1980s to analyze bioassays with a quantitative response using probit or logit regression analysis. ... Unlike systems that analyze nucleic acid sequencing, which require nucleic acids to be initially sequenced, LeOra is capable of analyzing DNA and RNA in any number and in any combination. In addition, the analysis requires very few samples, very little time and very few samples. This advantage makes LeOra ideal for in situ or on-site monitoring.
